How to Make Delicious Bonbons.
Homemade Ball Chairs—How to Cook Turnips.

Homemade bonbons are not always a perfect success, although there is no reason why they should not be if properly prepared. The basis of all the French bonbons is the French cream. To make this put two pounds of cane sugar into a pan with half a pint of hot water. Let this come to a boil quickly. It should then be allowed to boil steadily for eight minutes without being stirred. As soon as it begins to look thick test it to see if it threads when dropped from the spoon. If it does, remove it from the fire and test it still further by rubbing a small spoonful of the mixture against the side of a basin. If it balls up easily, it is ready to be poured into the basin and beaten with a spoon till it becomes smooth and creamy. If, on the other hand, it is not quite ready, cook it a minute or two longer, but if sugary it has cooked too long. Add a little water and begin over again. This is rather difficult, but when mastered it simplifies the making of many delicious confections.

Put out some of the fondant into a sheet about an eighth of an inch thick. Cut this out in tiny oblongs, and on each lay a strip of any nice glaze or dried fruit, such as pineapple, ginger, apricot, fold the fondant over it into a sort of small sausage shape and leave till set. Glaze cherries or little cakes of jelly may be made up this way, the fondant being flavored and colored to suit in each instance. Dates may be converted into most festive dessert sweets by stoning them, inserting a roll of daintily colored and flavored fondant into each, pressing the fruit well round the cream, and either leaving it plain or dipping it into sugar boiled to the crack to glaze it. Of course, color must be studied, as the contrast between the fruit and the roll of fondant showing at each end constitutes much of the beauty of the sweet. For walnut creams the fondant is very nice if flavored with coffee. Put a small piece of the cream into the required shape, press a half of a walnut kernel on to each side and when it is set dip into boiled sugar.

Made by a Young Girl.

There is nothing like carpentering for a healthy boy or a girl, either to expend his or her energies upon, and any number of useful articles may be made by home talent, especially as in the steam turning mills legs for chairs and tables may be made after any pattern.

For instance, the accompanying cut shows a simple design for a ball chair in a country house, which was made by a clever young woman out of a barrel, a broken chair and two back supports made out of ash. The staves were fastened on the latter with antique nails and formed the back, the round top, the seat and the front legs, new crosspieces being procured from the broken chair. The whole was scraped, stained and polished to imitate old oak.

Pencil-drawn as to Orthopedics.

"Young man," said Uncle Jerry Peem, "how do you pronounce that?" "Tabbedy note, sir," replied the waiter, a recent importation from Skedunk. "Correct," rejoined Uncle Jerry, nodding his approval. "Bring me that,"—Chicago Tribune.

HIS FRIENDS ARE BECOMING ALARMED

Boers Will Hold Cecil Rhodes For Indemnity.

BRITISH MORE HOPEFUL

Boers Raiding Zululand and Driving Off Cattle—Krug's Guns Are Implanted in Almost Impassable Places Around Ladysmith.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The war office has posted a dispatch from Colonel Keke-keke dated Sunday, Feb. 11, to the effect that Kimberley was bombarded throughout Thursday, Feb. 8. During the morning of Feb. 9 a small engagement lasting two hours occurred at Alexanderfontein.

A dispatch from the Modder river announces the arrival there of 1,400 refugees from the barkley west district. They had been ordered away by the Boers because they refused to join the Republicans. The refugees reached the Modder river via Koodoosberg.

It is learned that 200 Boers were killed or wounded during General MacDonald's reconnaissance.

There is no confirmation of the reported sortie of British troops from Ladysmith nor of the outflanking movement.

Forced Boers to Evacuate.

A report comes from Durban that the British artillery forced the Boers to evacuate their camp on Howangwana hill, south of Colesburg. It would be an important advantage if the British were able to occupy the position.

The absence of General French from the Rensberg district seems to have given the Boers an opportunity for renewed activity. They have apparently commenced an extended attack on the British lines and are meeting with minor successes, which are having considerable moral effect on the border colonies.

The Boer invasion of Zululand is causing anxiety. Apart from the fact that it threatens General Buller's supplies, it is difficult to believe that the Zulus can be long kept quiescent while their cattle is commandeered and their country overrun by their hereditary foes.

The friends of Cecil Rhodes are becoming alarmed at his possible fate, and have sent an emissary to see Dr. Layds, the diplomatic agent of the Boers in Europe, in regard to the probable course the Boers would pursue in the event of his capture. Dr. Layds assured the intermediaries that the Boers did not intend to kill Mr. Rhodes, but, he added, they would certainly hold him as a hostage until the indemnity for the Jameson raid was paid. In view of the developments since the raid, the Boers have also decided to double the amount of the indemnity demanded, so Mr. Rhodes' friends will have to hand over £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) before he is released. It is also learned definitely that Dr. Jameson is still at Ladysmith, in spite of all the conflicting reports.

APHORISMS.

Fortune does not change men; it only unmasks them.—Riccoboni.

By sowing frugality we reap liberty, a golden harvest.—Agesilaus.

If there be any truer measure of a man than by what he does, it must be by what he gives.—South.

God governs the world, and we have only to do our own duty wisely and leave the issue to him.—John Jay.

To be able to bear provocation is an argument of great reason and, to forgive it, of a great mind.—Tillotson.

We sometimes meet an original gentleman who, if manners had not existed, would have invented them.—Emerson.

There cannot be a surer proof of low origin or of an innate meanness of disposition than to be always talking and thinking about being genteel.—Hazlitt.

THE OYSTER SEASON.

The oyster in his bed of ooze, Waked with a start from his summer snooze, Opened his shell, and said, with a yawn: "I fear that our season of safety is gone. For my pleasant dreams were disturbed by the jar."

That is always caused by the letter R, And I know by the feel of that hideous sleep.

That some of us shortly will be in the soup! And so they will, for the sleep was filled with the finest and fattest. This sleep was sent out by Nick Apostle and these choice oysters are now for sale, done or raw, ready to chew, at his restaurant. You can get them by the plate, dozen, hundred, barrel, dry load, wagon load or ear load. Owing to the rush of business the serving of regular meals will be discontinued after this week, but special orders will be served at any hour of the day or night.

Don't buy anything in furniture or house furnishings until you have seen Marston & Finch's stock. Their prices are low; their stock is complete, and they will sell you what you want on long time.

Furniture at all Prices. We are selling dining-room tables at bargain prices; also stoves, bed-springs, mattresses, kitchen safes, and kitchen cabinets with bread boards, chests for flour, and drawers for kitchen utensils and tableware. Call and examine them at O. M. Pryor's Bargain Furniture House.

Scrofula and Consumption

People tainted with scrofula very often develop consumption. Anemia, running of the ear, scaly eruptions, imperfect digestion, and enlargement and breaking down of the glands of the neck, are some of the more prominent of scrofula symptoms—are forerunners of consumption. These conditions can be arrested, consumption prevented and health restored by the early use of Preparing to Feed Paris Fair Visitors.

The Paris exposition authorities have been busy the last few weeks auctioning off restaurant space, bicycle stables, souvenir stalls and all such privileges. There will be no less than 60 restaurants on the grounds of all sizes and prices, says the New York World. The authorities intend to tolerate no bleeding of visitors and will provide eating accommodations for the most modest purses. One restaurant, seating 600 persons, will give a clean and complete meal for 20 cents.

At Jacoby's.

Four different men were trying to talk to Jacoby, all at once, the other day when a NEWS man dropped in to get an advertisement he had been promising. "It's no use, my friend," he exclaimed. "You can see for yourself how things are. Look around, and if you see anything that will do for an ad., put her in, but don't wait for me to write it up; I simply can't do it." THE NEWS man looked around and "found something"—here is part of it, the rest was packed away in the big warehouse next door, or stacked up in shelves and piles, up to the ceiling:
